tional Coal Association, which came into being to direct the fight of the coal operators against restrictive legislation and to represent the industry in its relations with the Federal Coal Administration during the war. This association has been continued in Washington and it employs a large staff of experts in looking after its special interests in the government and in propaganda distribution.

The representatives of racial groups and embryo governments seeking favors from the American government are very much in evidence in the offices of members of congress and in the lobbies of the Capital. Some of these racial organizations are as follows:

Irish National Bureau.
Poland Information Bureau.
Lithuanian National Council.
Lithuanian Information Bureau.
Bureau of Jewish Statistics.
National Association of Colored Races.
Jewish Press Service of America.
National Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief.
British-Canadian Society.
Friends of Ukraine.
Korean Relief Society League.

Associations specially devoted to the suppression of the liquor traffic, in addition to the Anti-Saloon League, are the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the National Temperance Bureau.

Organizations of liquor dealers no longer appear as such among the Washington lobbyists. Through paid press-agents, however, propaganda in favor of modification of the alcoholic content, as prescribed in the Volstead Law, has been recently circulated. There is little doubt that the liquor lobby will make its appearance with the convening of the new congress.

The number of organizations designed to promote armament and the counter organizations against militarism are the one group which appears to have dwindled as a result of the war. There are several of these organizations still active, however, and most conspicuous among them is the Navy League, which still maintains a large staff in Washington. Others in the classification are as follows:

Peace League of the World.
American Peace Society.
American Union vs. Militarism.
The American Legion and the Private Soldiers and Sailors' Legion are the two organizations of war-veterans which maintain headquarters in the capital.

Other organizations, the purpose of which is in some instances disclosed by their title, are as follows:

National Association for Protection of American Rights in Mexico.
National Association for Constitutional Government.
National Civil Service Reference League.
National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor.
National Committee to Secure Rank for Army Nurses.
National Educational Association.
National Industrial Council.
National Committee for Soldiers and Sailors' Relief.
National Negro Business League.
National Popular Government League.
National Committee for District of Columbia Suffrage.
National Patriotic Press.
Rivers and Harbors Congress.
National Voters' League.
National Forestry Association.
American Medical Society.
Christian Science Association.

COOPERATIVE SHOE STORE MAKES CUT IN PRICE

Children of the Chelsea district are looking pretty well shod these days, and it developed yesterday that they, or their parents for them, have discovered an easy way to beat the high cost of shoe leather.

When the boys of the Hudson Guild clubs, which meet at 436 West Twenty-seventh street, make a slide to base—they are still playing the national game in that neighborhood playground—or kick the pigskin, they slide or kick with a careless disregard for injury to brand new shoes. The girls, too are wearing neat though commonsense shoes for school and play occasions, while parents are enjoying foot and pocketbook comfort together for the first time since the war.

This is the reason. Under the direction of Sidney Scheuer, who is financier and Mrs. R. L. Goodman who is buyer, proprietor, saleswoman and special size advisor to mothers, Hudson Guild has opened a shoe store of its own, where guaranteed all leather shoes for men, women and children are sold at a profit of 10 per cent above the wholesale price.

A child's shoe costs $2.20 or $2.85; a girl's school shoe, $3.13; women's shoes, either for working or for dressy occasions, $3.70 and a man's shoe, $4.25.

"Indeed, no mother need be ashamed to put any of those shoes on her children's feet," remarked a woman visitor after inspecting the leather bargains.

"One mother told me that she used to pay $5.25 a pair for her boy's shoes," said Mrs. Goodman, "and as he played in the street all the time a pair lasted three weeks. Then they had to be resoled. She bought a pair of our shoes at $2.85 and said they lasted five weeks."

"All the mothers tell us the shoes will stand three half soles and heels. We exchange cheerfully and try to supervise the sales to see that mothers get shoes large enough for their girls and boys."

Mrs. Goodman, who is a member of the Cooperative Shoe Committee of Hudson Guild, says they hope to make the store permanent and to sell shares. Any one may buy, either on Friday or Saturday nights, when the shop is open, or by special appointment. This week shoes have dropped 10, 15 and 20 cents a pair, and cooperative prices will show a proportionate decline.

The saving to purchasers is from 25 to 50 per cent. Mrs. Goodman estimates. The 10 per cent charge above wholesale price is to cover the cost of wrapping paper, twine and other expenditures. The shoe closet, which serves as a storehouse, and the lights are free. The shoe clerks and entire staff volunteer their services. The experiment is a success, according to its sponsor, and will be greatly expanded in the spring to meet increased demands. — New York Times.
